A light snow fell at LaCrosse, Wis., on the last day of August.

A man at Princeton, Ind., is bragging about a hog that weighs 805 pounds.

Lawrence Tanner's contest of Ben Ringo's nomination for Commonwealth's Attorney at Owensboro, was dismissed.

Former Governor Patterson has announced his candidacy for Senator in Tennessee to succeed Senator Luke Rhea.

Sarah Bernhardt, despite the fact that she has lost a leg, is coming to New York this month for another American tour.

Harry Thaw has sued his wife for divorce, naming a New York reporter as co-respondent. Her alleged infidelity and desertion are fixed in December 1909.

J. G. Metcalfe, long connected with the Louisville & Nashville railroad and for years general manager of the road, died Tuesday in Pocono, Pa., after a long illness.

The Marietta, Ga., grand jury reported that they were unable to find any indictments in the Frank case. No one expected the alleged investigation to be other than a farce.

Germany, according to Count von Bernstorff's instructions, offers to submit the claims for compensation arising out of the Lusitania and Arabic cases to The Hague for arbitration.

Evelyn Thaw says she will make no defense to Harry's plea for divorce, as she wants the separation worse than he does. She says she does not want any of his money, but merely to be rid of him.

Harry McChesney and Lieut. Gov. McDermott both made well tempered speeches at the Louisville Convention pledging their support to the ticket. They were given a most cordial reception and much applause.

The Attendance at the Good Roads rally at Russellville Wednesday was estimated at 5,000. One hundred carcasses were used in the free barbecue. Speeches were made by Joel B. Fort, Robt. E. Woods, Jos. W. Byrns and others.

In charging the grand jury to investigate the Frank lynching, a Georgia judge reminded the jurors that they were not detectives. They will hardly be expected to go behind the coroner's verdict in making their investigation.

Still a new kind of doctor has been discovered in Germany. The technical academy at Karlsruhe has conferred on Prof. Otto Rausenberger, who designed the famous 42 centimetre Krupp gun, the degree of doctor of engineering honoris causa.

A hiss is about the last thing to be contended in a harmony convention. The Democrats in Kentucky have no patience with the insult offered to Senator Beckham. It should not be taken to represent the sentiment of any right thinking Democrats.

Strained relations between the United States and Germany over submarine warfare apparently passed into history as Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, informed Secretary Lansing in writing that prior to the sinking of the Arabic, his Government had decided that its submarines should sink no more liners without warning. Washington views the outcome of the diplomatic exchanges as a personal triumph for President Wilson, and leaders at the capital, it is said, view his renomination and re-election as almost certain.

BURIAL OF E. E. WILKINS

Body of Young Man Drowned at Galveston Brought Here Yesterday.

The body of Ewell E. Wilkins, the Hopkinsville boy who met death in the Galveston storm, arrived here yesterday at 5:25 a. m., over the L. & N. The interment took place at Riverside cemetery at 10 o'clock a. m. Brief services were held at the grave, conducted by Rev. Lewis Powell, of the Methodist church, of which Mr. Wilkins was a member.

Mr. Wilkins was chief engineer on the dredge boat San Bernard, which was wrecked during the storm. He had been in the government service for several years and had been advanced several times because of efficient and faithful service.

Mr. Wilkins is survived by his wife, to whom he was married on March 30, and who was rescued from the waters of the gulf after having been carried away by the storm, his father, Wm. W. Wilkins, step-mother, one sister, Miss Ruth Wilkins and brother, Caleb Wilkins.

READY FOR BEE LINERS.

Clarksville, Tenn., September 3.—The citizens of Clarksville are actively engaged in arranging for an elaborate display when the Dixie Bee-Line inspectors make their visit here on September 16. It is expected that every business house in the city will be decorated for the occasion. The citizens have determined to make the visitors know that nothing is done here in a small way.

GATHER UP SHOVELS

And Prepare To Work On The Roads Next Wednesday, Sept. 8.

MANY "HANDS" SIGNING UP

Leading Business Men Will Don Overall and Be There With The Goods.

The committee in charge of the plans and preparations for the coming of the inspection committee to select the route of the Dixie Bee Line Highway on the 15th, is busy getting everything ready. Wednesday the 8th, has been selected by the Christian County Bee Line Association as the day for cleaning, widening and repairing the pikes into and around Hopkinsville.

County Judge Walter Knight and Mayors F. K. Yost, of Hopkinsville, G. W. Morgan, of Crofton, and W. H. Jones, of Pembroke, have issued proclamations declaring Wednesday as Dixie Bee Line Highway Day and calling upon all the able-bodied men in the county to desist from their usual work on that day and report at 6 o'clock and do a hard day's work for the betterment of the roads in Christian County.

Nearly all of the public spirited citizens of the county have heeded the call and a large number have promised the committees of the different districts that have been designated, that they will don their overalls or working clothes and armed with picks, hoes and shovels will report for duty with the rising of the sun on Wednesday morning.

The work will not be confined alone to those points on the roads on the route of the proposed Dixie Bee Line, but the day has been declared as a general Good Roads day, and all the men who are interested in the progress and betterment of the roads all through the county are asked to work their roads.

Already a large number of citizens have voluntarily offered to the committee their aid and services on the day set. Following is a list of the Hopkinsville citizens who have already pledged their earnest support and promised to be up at six o'clock Wednesday and get to work on the pikes:

Messrs. Walter S. Wilson, Herbert L. McPherson, Lucian H. Davis, Geo. E. Gary, W. A. Radford, M. C. Forbes, Jas. D. McGowan, J. M. Neblett, Jas. B. Allensworth, Jas. Breathitt, A. H. Eckles, Henry Frankel, Dr. C. H. Tandy, Wallace Hancock, C. H. Harrison, L. B. Cornett, Fred Jackson, John C. Duffy, W. T. Tandy, T. J. McReynolds and Rev. W. R. Goodman.

Messrs. W. A. Davison and Monroe Dalton have offered the use of their teams, wagons, scrapers and tools to the committee. S. U. Woolridge will also furnish implements for the Good Road workers to use.

The Christian County Bee Line Association, as well as the officials of the county and city wish to enlist all the progressive citizens in the army of Good Roads workers and are making a great appeal to them to come out and do a good honest day's work on Wednesday.

DREW FINES.

Leon Luverta, an Indian barber, who works in Stewart's barbershop, had a difficulty with Dock Carroll, a white man, late Saturday night in a restaurant. The Indian was tried Thursday and fined $10 and costs. He cursed Carroll, who knocked him down. Frank Tate, col., who took part in the trouble and hit Carroll with a bottle, was fined $22.50 on a plea of guilty.

Girl Killed.

Miss Lillian Covington, an 18-year-old girl residing at Flippin, Tenn., was fatally injured by an Illinois Central passenger train.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT

At The Pennyroyal Fair Will Be Given Special Attention.

SOME SPECIAL AWARDS GIVEN

Still More Attractive Displays Expected This Year.

In arranging the programs and departments of the Pennyroyal fair, one of the departments to which special attention has been shown by the officials is the Educational Division. Every possible step has been taken to make this branch of the fair a success in every sense of the word. Generous awards have been offered by the fair for the best work done by the pupils of the city and county schools, and the County Superintendent and the superintendent and principals of the city schools, as well as all of the teachers are uniting with the committee on Educational work, and are trying to leave no tables unturned to make that one of the greatest features of the fair.

The school in each educational division having the best exhibit, a cash prize of $5.00 will be given. To the school in the county having the best exhibit, the same amount will be awarded as a premium. $1.00 will be given as a prize to the school having the second best exhibit in each division.

The work in domestic science and manual training is paid especial attention and the highest and most tempting awards are offered for those subjects. Nearly $50 in premiums is offered to the pupils who do the best work in these departments. A large number of the pupils in the schools in the city and county realize the opportunity that would be offered them and last year during school perfected samples of their handicraft which they will put in the contests.

A special prize offer has been made through the generosity of the Planters' Bank and Trust Company. $10 to the boy or girl making the best drawing showing the correct arrangement of a farm plant. The drawing must include the position of barns, lots, driveways, water supply, garden, etc.

To the boy making the most useful article for general use, such as an axe handle, camp stool, bird house, taboret or other articles, awards will be given in three prizes—$3, $2, $1.

Tempting premiums are offered to girls who make the best fancy work, wearing apparel, canned goods, etc.

HILL COUNTRY AROUSED.

Clarksville, Tenn., Sept. 3.—A mass meeting was held yesterday afternoon at the Union school house in district No. 19. The purpose of this meeting was to promote good roads from Clarksville to Shiloh and to the Stewart county line.

The people of that section are greatly enthused over the possibilities of good roads and good schools. The farmers have given a right of way around the hills to the Stewart county line.

CHECKS ARE COMING IN

To Those Who Bought Ford Cars Last Year.

39 PURCHASERS GET RETURNS

Total of $15,000,000 Will Be Refunded By Ford People.

At 1:15 o'clock on July 16th the total number of Ford cars sold since August 1, 1914, reached 300,000 and according to the proposition made by the Ford Company at the first of the year, a rebate of $50 was declared on every car bought during the year. Checks began to be mailed at an early date and $15,000,000 will be refunded to purchasers.

Christian county and Hopkinsville have a large number of Ford owners who will share in this good fortune. The Ideal Motor Car Co., who have the sole agency in this county, report that they have sold since Aug. 1, 1914, thirty-nine Ford autos. This makes $1,950 that will come back into Christian county.

The checks are mailed from the Ford Co. in Detroit direct to the purchaser. Each check is numbered to correspond to the number on the car to avoid any mistakes. The checks are mailed according to the dates of sales in the order in which the cars were bought.

The first person in this county to receive his check for the rebate was Mr. Hiley Cobb. All of the checks will be sent out by Sept. 15th.

The checks are mailed in open faced envelopes, the name of the payee serving also as the mailing address. The amount of the check, $50, is printed on its face.

Those who have received their rebate are happy at their luck and are delighted with the Ford Company's plan to share its profits with the car owners. Others are expectantly watching the mails for the arrival of their checks.

In Davis county 53 cars were sold.

MATINEE RACES TO-DAY

Usual Program of Interesting Contests Announced For The Day.

The Matinee Race Club announces that it will present its usual Saturday afternoon race program today at the Pennyroyal Fair grounds. A list of entries has not yet been compiled but the club promises its patrons that a fast bunch of trotters will be on hand to compete in the contests of speed.

The regular purses have been offered and there will be no deviations from the usual program. An admission fee of 10 cents will be charged.

WILLS FAMILY'S TROUBLES.

Mr. Geo. W. Wills, who was injured in a runaway accident the first of the week, is no longer confined to his bed. Mrs. Wills, whose injuries were more serious, will be laid up for some time, with a fracture of one arm and some painful cuts and bruises. Their son, Lindsay Wills, aged 21 has become temporarily demented and has been sent to the State Hospital for treatment.

IN NEW QUARTERS.

Mr. E. H. Brown, who for many years has been connected with different shoe firms in the city, has accepted a position with the Schwartz Shoe Store on Ninth street. Mr. Brown is a veteran in the shoe business and will greatly add to that department of the Schwartz store.

DRIVE AIMED AT VILNA

Grodno Made Untenable For Russians When Teutons Capture Railway.

HINDENBURG NO PROGRESS

British Sink Four Turkish Transports in Dardanelles Is the Report.

London, Sept. 3.—An Amsterdam dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company says it is reported that Admiral Von Tripitz, the German minister of marine, will resign and will be succeeded by Admiral Von Pohl, now chief of the admiralty staff and commander of the German battle fleet.

Except in the region of Riga, where the Russians are presenting a solid front to von Hindenburg, the Austro-German offensive again is making headway and the Russian troops have resumed their four months retreat. Grodno's western forts were evacuated after two were destroyed by the heavy guns and stormed by the German infantry, and it is considered extremely likely that the whole fortress already has been left to its fate, for it was no longer tenable after the Germans had crossed the Grodno-Vilna railway, which they did at two points, and had penetrated the forest of Bieloviezh, to the southeast of the town.

Vilna, doubtless, will be the next object of the Austro-Germans on this front.

In the southeast Vienna reports a series of successes, which virtually have driven the Russians out of Galicia; they now hold only a narrow strip between the Sereth river and Bessarabia. Across the border in the latter province, the Austrians state, the Russians set fire to villages, which might indicate a further retreat. Thus the hopes raised in the allied countries by the recent successes that Russia at least was making a stand have been dissipated.

Everywhere the Austro-Germans claim to be advancing, but they have not captured of late any great number of men or guns. The Russian guns have been kept well behind the infantry and are quickly moved back when the rear guards are unable longer to hold off the invaders.

On the western front the Germans claim to have recovered trenches lost in August in the Vosges, while the French refer only to artillery engagements, which have been the feature of the last nine days, with no suggestion of what they foreshadow.

APPARENTLY CLOSED.

The Arabic incident has apparently been closed by two announcements. One was an official assurance in writing that prior to the sinking of the Arabic, the German Government had decided that its submarines should sink no more liners without warning. The other was a report from London that the submarine that sank the Arabic Aug. 20, was that Aug. 21 sunk with its entire crew, leaving no one to punish for violating instructions.

ONE VERSION.

It is announced from Berlin that the submarine that sank the Arabic has not yet reported or returned. In the absence of official knowledge, in view of the possible loss of the boat, the Germans are preparing to assert that the captain of the submarine feared that his vessel would be rammed and fired a torpedo at the liner, or that the Arabic was not torpedoed at all, but struck a mine.

FISHERMAN HAS A NEW ONE

His Story at Least Is a Variation From Time-Honored Yarns So Often Rehashed.Porter T. Scripture is a truthful soul, Porter T. Scripture is a truthful soul—(chorus of impolite friends of Mr. Scripture here gets its cue to arise and chant)—Yes, he is, as white as coal. However, Mr. Scripture shall be heard. (Unfortunately his name is Scripture, not Scripture, or it would be a cinch to compare Scripture with the well-known gospel variety of truth).Mr. Scripture set out with his little fishing rod the other morning for the Mohawk river in search of trout.
Some hours later he returned wild-eyed and weary, and to his friends he told this story:He had been casting a fly from the shallows with indifferent success and was about to reel up and move on (chorus of friends: "They always are!") when there was a prodigious splash and a giant fish that looked with the silvery sheen on its scales, like a German torpedo, leaped several feet out of the water and seized the fly.A terrible struggle here ensued (chorus, "There always does!") the fish endeavoring to haul Mr. Scripture into the depths and drown him.
Mr. S. laboring valiantly to lure the fish into shallow water, where he could be seized. Finally, after 40 minutes of tremendous exertion, Mr.
Scripture got the trout into shallow water and picked him—(chorus, "Ay, go on; he slipped off the hook, didn't he?") No. Mr. Scripture lifted the mammoth fish, his tail flapping ferociously and his teeth snapping viciously, and hung him on his pocket scales.Inasmuch as trout are not known to have pockets, it is supposed that Mr. Scripture, in his excitement playing fast and loose with pronouns, alluded to his, Mr. Scripture's, pocket scales. However, now comes the cruel blow. The fish weighed 11½ pounds. This is a record. But —Mr. Scripture recollected suddenly—the law says that no angler may take more than ten pounds of trout in one day.What was to be done? On one side fame and fortune beckoned, but there also threatened the stern face of the law. On the other side 'duty and honesty. Duty and honesty triumphed.
(Mr. Scripture says so, and he ought to know), and the record trout was sadly released, to return to his native waters. (Chorus, "Well, that's a new one, anyway. Bill, Y'gonna buy?") Mr. Scripture is quite indignant when people ask him why he didn't cut off and return a pound and a half of the trout's tail, and thus keep within the law.—New York

GOAT RANKS AS ARISTOCRAT

Always Spotless, the Animal Figures In Strong Contrast With Sheep on Australian Ranges.Out on the Australian ranges among the dirty gray billows of sheep fleece the snowy forms of the Angora goats show up like beacon lights, for they are always spotless. They are cool and easy-mannered, and seemingly hold their wool-bearing companions somewhat in disdain.When overcrowded in a pen in the pen they will perch on the backs of the sheep or step over them to a more airy point of vantage, the top of the fence by preference.The hours never hang heavily on the hands of a goat. Seemingly requiring but little grass nourishment as compared with the sheep, they find much leisure, which they spend in inciting to wonder or in stirring up strife and mischief.As with the salt-seeking cow, few things, provided they are novelties, come amiss to their palate. A healthy Angora will quit the most succulent herbage any time for a felt hat or a pocket edition of Shakespeare, and then proceed to hunt for a tin can for further sustenance.

Good Men Are Scarce.

Col. E. Polk Johnson of Louisville, who fought for the Confederacy, read something in the dispatches from the front the other day that reminded him very much of what happened when he was serving in the western army in the Civil war. "I remember it was a wet, cold, rainy night in the middle of winter," said the veteran, "when a long, lean chap in my regiment was ordered to go on picket duty. He thought the situation over for a minute and then he turned to the sergeant who had brought the message.
'You go right straight back what you come from,' he drawled, 'and tell the cap'n I jest natchelly can't do it. I got a letter from Gin'ral Bragg this mawnin', and he said good men was gittin' almighty skeerer in this here army, and for me to take good care of myself.'"

HAVE SEEN MUCH OF HISTORY

Birds and Animals Still Living Whose Memories Could Take Them Back Over Century's Passage.It is a startling fact that if some animals could tell their life they would be able to recall events which happened more than a century ago. A Russian eagle, for instance, would be able to remember watching with greedy eyes as one by one the French soldiers under Napoleon fell exhausted out of the ranks in their awful retreat from Moscow in 1812. There are crocodiles alive in India today which saw the first English traveler set foot there, while there are whales in the sea which may have skirted the coast of France when the British invaded it in 1415. A great many elephants could recall historical events of a hundred years ago, while there are ravens still living whose memory could go back twice that period.Talking of birds, the parrot, the crow and the swan, often live a hundred years—that is, of course, if they do not meet with misfortune—while the heron will live sixty years. Geese and pelicans will survive half a century, and the sparrow forty years.
Pigeons, linnets, canaries, cranes and peacocks will live to well over twenty years, while the goldfinch, partridge, pheasant, lark and nightingale will live from fifteen to eighteen years, the robin twelve years, and the thrush and hen ten years.

WORLD'S FAVOR VERY FICKLE

Sale of Treasured Trinket Owned by Great Actress Shows the Value of Sentiment.The name of Fanny Davenport was for years a household word. Young collegians put her photographs on the mantlepiece or in the edge of a looking glass. Born into a famous theatrical family, she brilliantly played parts, and appearing in dramas by Sardou was popularly known as the American Sarah Bernhardt.Personal property belonging to Miss Davenport was sold at auction in New York a short time ago. A locket containing her portrait and a lock of her mother's hair was put up. Miss Davenport had worn it constantly during the last years of her life. The locket itself was valuable. There was a bid of one dollar and seventy-five cents. The auctioneer was dumb with astonishment. Finally he gathered himself together and said that there must be some misunderstanding.
"Miss Davenport loved it better than her life. She never took it from her neck while she was living and died with it clasped next to her heart, for it contained the love token of her mother. Again think of sentiment and its value. How much am I offered now?" Someone bid two dollars and thus possessed it. Sentiment brough twenty-five cents.

The Irishman Scored.

The duke of Connaught tells a good story against himself. Some years ago when he was raised to the position of lieutenant-colonel of the First Rifle brigade, the late Queen Victoria commanded that he should only be saluted as a regimental officer, and not as a member of the royal family.On one occasion, however, an Irish sentry, seeing the duke and duchess approaching, turned out the guard and gave the royal salute.The duke was much annoyed and proceeded to give the sergeant in charge a piece of his mind.But the quick-witted Irishman was equal to the occasion."The guard, sorr," he said in the richest brogue, "is for her royal highness, who, as a member of the royal family, is entitled to it!"After that the duke could say nothing.

Found, a Volunteer.

A certain member of the municipal court of Paris has been tireless in his activities in behalf of the less fortunate inhabitants of his arrondissement or ward. He makes a tour each morning of the streets of his crowded quarter of the town to see what people in trouble he can help. He directs also a soup kitchen. The other day he learned that the cook was gone.
In spite of his somewhat advanced age this valuable assistant had enlisted in the army—or married a wife or something—anyway, he had vanished. The councilman scoured the town for a substitute. In vain. Never mind, the poor folks must not lack their soup.The next morning found, in place of the departed artist behind the steaming pots, the councilman himself officiating as chef and concocting bean porridge of the best municipal brew.—

Wonder World of Feminine Work In Woman's Building of Kentucky State Fair

THAT needlework is not a "lost art" and high class cooking lines up unashamed with the output of brush and pencil are demonstrated by the varied branches of handwork and handicraft listed and to be shown in the woman's department of the Kentucky State Fair, which will be held in Louisville Sept. 13-18.

Each season the entries for this department are revised and almost invariably enlarged in order to keep step with the progress of fashions and fads in feminine fripperies, and this year will be no exception to the rule. The interest in this portion of the great agricultural and live stock exhibit to be held in Louisville Sept. 13-18 promises one of the most elaborate displays in Kentucky State Fair history. Throughout the state are being prepared wonders of needlework, crocheting, china painting, canvas work, quilting and embroidery, and thought is being given to the coming effort in the line of cooking and preserving.

The Woman's Department is this year under the supervision of Mrs. Harry McCarty of Nicholasville, with Miss Helen Bond of Versailles and Mrs. H. D. Robb of Okolona as assistants in the Textile section; Miss Eva McGrew, Bayou, assistant in the Arts and Crafts section, and Mrs. Henry Cox, West Liberty, assistant in the Culinary section.

The various classes in the Woman's Department include household fabrics, such as rugs, portieres, quilts, etc.; ladies' wearing apparel, miscellaneous needlework, infants' articles, household linens, embroidery, handkerchiefs, lace work, crochet and knitting, miscellaneous novelties, work of old ladies over sixty-five, work of girls in some high school of the state, work of children under thirteen, bread, pies, cakes, cookies, doughnuts, etc.; candy, canned fruits and vegetables, preserves, pickles, jellies, jams, marmalades, handicraft, tooled leather, weaving, designing, photography, art and metal work.

All applications for entry in this department must be made by or before the 30th of August. Address all inquiries or entries to Woman's Department, Kentucky State Fair, Louisville, Ky.

GRAND EXHIBITION AT STATE FAIR

Product of Boys and Girls' Pig, Corn, Canning and Chicken Club
Work Enticingly Arrayed In Special Building

TO stimulate the interest of boys and girls in practical farm work and to instill in them a natural love for and interest in animals, as well as formulate habits of thrift and industry, the Kentucky State Fair management has added to the importance of juvenile club work in Kentucky by arranging for an entire exhibition building at the coming State Fair, Sept. 13-18, which will be devoted to exhibiting the products of the youth of the state.

The whole department of juvenile club work in Kentucky is under the supervision of Government State Agent Geoffrey Morgan of Lexington, Ky., and Mr. Morgan and his assistants are busily engaged in directing, stimulating and instructing club workers already organized, as well as formulating new bands in various communities.

The Boys' Corn Club work is under the supervision of B. G. Nelson of Hopkinsville, and the rules for this club require that each contestant must be between ten and eighteen years of age, a pupil of the public schools and must raise at least one acre of corn.

Otis Kercher is state agent for the Boys' Pig Clubs, and boys of the same ages, ten to eighteen years, are eligible. Each member must care for his stock in person, keeping records of feed and grazing. He must also have owned his pig for a period of not less than four months up to the time of the State Fair.

The Girls' Canning Club exhibit promises to be very interesting. There are attractive premiums offered for the best assortment of canned vegetables and fruits in both glass and tin and the best exhibits of jellies.

The Poultry Club work is superintended by H. W. Rickey, Lexington, and all members desiring to compete at the State Fair exhibition must secure a certificate of membership from him. There will be no entry fee charged for members exhibiting in this class. All breeds will compete for the prizes, and premiums will be paid on male, female and pens. All birds shown in this class must be raised and shown by a member of one of the poultry clubs in Kentucky.

In addition to the premiums in this class, Levy Brothers have generously donated to the winner of the best specimen shown a handsome $10 suit of their famous clothes, or, if the prize is captured by a girl, the firm will give its equivalent in merchandise suitable to a miss.

WHEN THE GATE CLOSED

By DONALD HOPPER.

(Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

It was a lovers' quarrel. It was even more serious than a lovers' quarrel, for they were no longer engaged.

Nancy had given Robert his ring—and he had taken it. She could hardly forgive him for that!

Mrs. Arden sat in the living room, reading the evening paper. The windows were open to the balmy night. She knew Nancy and her lover were walking in the garden.

Her daughter came in. She was quite pale, but her blue eyes gleamed strangely.

"What was that sound I heard?" went on Mrs. Arden. "A creaking sound—did you hear it?"

Nancy flushed.

"It was the gate," she said.

"The gate!" Mrs. Arden's voice expressed her wonder.

"Bob closed the gate," said Nancy.

"But—why?"

"I told him to, mother."

"It has never been closed all these years. I don't understand it. I don't like it." The little lady was visibly disturbed.

"I told Robert to close the gate; our engagement is broken," explained Nancy.

Mrs. Arden was silent for some time. Her eyes were thoughtful, and she did not reproach her daughter, as Nancy expected.

"Perhaps it is just as well, my dear. Of course you and Bob are almost too young to be quite certain of your hearts. We were all very happy over the thought of the families being united; still, it may be for the best, after all."

"Why, mother?" asked Nancy in a queer tone. "Best for me—or for Bob?"

"I was thinking that now Bob would be free to take that trip to India with Professor Morrison. Colonel Leigh said it would be a world of benefit for Bob to go merely as the professor's private secretary."

"They are to be gone a year," said Nancy, slowly.

"Eighteen months, I believe," said Mrs. Arden, picking up her paper. "I've just been reading about it—the expedition sails day after tomorrow. Bob will have to hurry."

Nancy stared into space.

Colonel Leigh looked across the table at his placid wife.

"What was that sound, my dear?" he inquired.

"It sounded like a gate," she said. "It could hardly be a gate," said the colonel. "There is only one gate on the place, and that has never been closed."

Just then Robert came in, tall and grave.

"Your father thought he heard the gate closing," smiled Mrs. Leigh; "but I told him the idea was absurd—the gate has never been closed."

"It is closed now," said Robert grimly.

Two pairs of eyes questioned him.

"Why?" asked his mother. "It's all off between Nancy and me—we are no longer engaged." Robert picked up a magazine and sat down under the lamplight.

The colonel and his wife stared at each other in consternation. Then Mrs. Leigh dropped her eyes to her knitting and a long-forgotten dimple appeared at the corner of her mouth.

Her husband recognized that dimple—in younger days he had surrendered to its wiles. Now he watched it, fascinated.

"So the engagement is broken," murmured Robert's mother. "Dear me, I am sorry, but perhaps it's all for the best. Nancy is a dear girl, but perhaps she would get along better with a man who could manage her more than you do, Bobby dear. But I shall finish that luncheon set I am embroidering for her. It will be ready as soon as she does marry. There's that young Kenyon from Overbrook—he is very devoted."

Mrs. Leigh rambled on, her dimple always in evidence.

The colonel watched his wife, and Robert stared at nothing.

"It's not too late to join Morrison's expedition," reminded the colonel, after a while. "Of course, we hate to let you go, son, but if you feel now that you are free—why hello—where's the boy gone?"

He stared at Robert's empty chair. For the first and last time in her conventional life Mrs. Leigh actually winked at her husband.

Somewhere in the distance a bell was striking ten.

The moonlight still flooded the garden, and shone on the closed gate. Nancy stepped hurriedly down the path to the closed gate. She laid her hands on the gate to push it open. At the same instant a pair of warm, strong hands covered hers.

"Nancy!" exclaimed Robert. "What are you doing here, dear?"

"I came to open the gate," she whispered. "Oh, it must never be closed between us again!"

"Never, sweetheart," he said tenderly, and then, together, they opened the gate.

Mrs. Arden heard the sound and she looked at the picture of Nancy's mother and sighed and smiled.

The Leighs heard it, too, and Colonel Leigh bent over his wife and closed the dimple.

MEXICANS KILL
2 AMERICANSBullet-Riddled Bodies Are Brought to Brownsville After Discovery.

BANDITS FLEE AFTER FIGHT

Leader of Band Believed to Be Signer of Circular Urging Uprising.

Brownsville, Tex., Sept. 3.—The bullet-riddled bodies of two Americans who were kidnapped by Mexican bandits about twelve miles north of here, were found in the bed of a dried lake about twelve miles north of here.

The men were Earl Donaldson, a farmer who came here from Fayette, Mo., two weeks ago, and an engineer named Smith, engaged in construction work on an irrigation canal.

These men, with Stanley Dodds, the contractor in charge of the canal work, were taken prisoners by the bandits, who burned the trestle north of here last night. Because one of the Mexicans told the other Dodds was a German he was not harmed.

Dodds escaped when the Mexicans became involved in a fight with United States soldiers and telephoned from a distant ranch.

There were sixteen Mexicans in the band which met half a company of United States infantry north of Brownsville late today. The Mexican was killed and the others escaped. No soldiers were hit.

ANOTHER POSSUM HUNTER
GIVEN TWO YEARS.

Hartford, Ky., Sept. 3.—The trial of Mike Wydix, charged with intimidation, was concluded Thursday, the jurors finding the defendant guilty and fixing his punishment at from one to two years in the penitentiary. The indictment against William A. Owen of Fordsville, charged with arson, is being tried. It is charged that due to an alleged grievance, Owen set fire to the Westerville tobacco factory at Fordsville last spring, which resulted in its destruction. Wydix, it was shown, joined the possum hunters in order to intimidate an aged man whose daughter Wydix had ruined, it is said.

Gen. Orozco Killed.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 1.—Government officials here last night said they had received reports confirming earlier rumors that Gen. Pascual Orozco, prominent military leader during Mexican revolutions of the last few years, had been killed in a fight between Mexicans and an American posse. Civilians, United States customs officers and members of the Thirteenth U. S. cavalry participated in the battle, which according to reports, was fought in the Green river canyon, Culberson county, Texas. After a raid on the Dick Love ranch yesterday, Orozco and four companions were pursued from the Sierra Blanca country into the foothills. Orozco died at dusk last night. Four other Mexicans were killed.

Man Fights Eagle.

J. G. Stephens, a teacher at Midletown, Tenn., located a few miles west of town, was returning home from school and passing through some dense woods when a big eagle sprang from a log beside the road-way, and with wings outstretched and a hissing shriek attacked him. Dropping a dinner pail, Mr. Stephens picked up a stone and succeeded in hitting the eagle with it. Then seizing a club he soon killed the bird. The eagle measured four feet six inches from tip to tip of its wings. It was very thin in flesh, and it is thought that hunger drove it to the desperate attack, as it is seldom that one attacks a person.

Rear Admiral William H. Fullhan has been relieved as superintendent of the United States naval academy, to be succeeded by Capt. E. W. Eberle, now commandant of the Washington navy yard and superintendent of the naval gun factory. Admiral Charles F. Pond in command of the Pacific reserve fleet at Puget mouth, N. H., as commandant of the yards there.

A SUBSTITUTE CHAPERON

By FANNY KENDERDINE.

(Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

A bellboy had just brought the telegram to Mrs. Ramsey. She regarded it with vexed resignation.

"Girls," she said, addressing her pretty daughters, "you must go home with me. Mrs. Kittredge wires me that she will be in Boston on the 20th—tomorrow—to make me the long-promised visit. I must be there to greet her." Her tone was final.

"But, mother," objected Katharine, "why can't you write Mrs. Kittredge and tell her to visit us here in New York? We can have heaps more fun."

"There is no reason why we should not remain until after the Beasley concert—" began Rosalind, but the look on her mother's face checked her words.

"Unchaperoned?" asked Mrs. Ramsey, in horror.

"Find us a chaperon for the remainder of the week, and then we'll come home and help entertain Mrs. Kittredge," urged Katharine.

"There's no one in town of whom I would ask such a favor, but there is my cousin, Algernon Mudge—"

Algernon Mudge!

Visions of his portrait in an obscure corner of the library at home assailed the mental vision of the girls. Cousin Algernon Mudge was small and pale and very learned looking. His little moonlike face was almost obscured by a pair of huge tortoise-shell rimmed spectacles.

Surely one would be safe with Algernon Mudge, their mother's second cousin.

When they reached their sitting room after their mother had gone, they were confronted by a servant bearing the card of Mr. Algernon Mudge.

All this for the benefit of a little, near-sighted student!

"Come!" said Katharine, and they went down to the red parlor where the visitor awaited them.

But the only occupant of the red parlor was a tall, big-framed young man, smartly arrayed in most fleckless clothes.

The young man bowed profoundly.

"I am here," he said pleasantly.

"You—you are mistaken," said Rosalind haughtily. "We are looking for our cousin, Mr. Mudge."

"I am Algernon Mudge," insisted the youth, placing a card on the table. "My father is laid up with an attack of rheumatic gout and he sent me—as a sort of substitute chaperon. I—hope you don't mind."

Katharine looked appealingly at her elder sister.

"We didn't know that Cousin Algernon had a son," confessed Rosalind. "We thought he was a childless widower. But we are glad to see you, Cousin Algernon; but we were surprised."

"No wonder," said Algernon, shaking hands vigorously. "Expecting a neat little chaperon like dad, and finding me!"

"I'm sorry, but I'm afraid you won't do," sighed Rosalind.

"Oh, bother!" said young Algernon. "Let me take you about a bit. How long have you been here?"

"Arrived last night," announced Rosalind, tragically.

"Say, that's bad luck, isn't it? Ever been here before?"

"No; we live in Boston, and it hasn't seemed—seemed necessary," went on Rosalind. "But now we are here there are so many things we wanted to see; just common everyday 'sights' that you will laugh at."

The girls went away with Algernon Mudge and from the moment they mounted to the roof of a Fifth avenue bus until hours afterward they were set down at the Mudge home in Washington square, they forgot everything save that they were seeing things about which they had read and talked for years.

And Algernon Mudge, senior, sort of balanced matters by proving to be exactly as they had pictured him—save that he was the most charming and delightful of hosts.

"I didn't want to disappoint your mother, my dears," he said patting their hands; "so I just sent my big boy along. Algie works too hard anyway. A little play will do no harm."

After dinner Jack Kenyon, a friend of Algie, dropped in and Cousin Algernon insisted upon music. And the next day there were four who set forth upon adventure in Manhattan.

It was a double wedding the following October.

After Katharine and Algie and Rosalind and Jack had left the house, Mrs. Ramsey looked at Cousin Algernon Mudge, who beamed back at her through his goggles.

"I'm afraid you're an irresponsible chaperon," sighed Mrs. Ramsey. "Through you I've lost both my girls!"

Cousin Algernon squeezed her hand gently.

"A reliable chaperon usually arranges a desirable marriage," he hinted, "and, remember, Sally, that I am alone, too—and, well—if we had met years ago we would have been sweethearts. What do you think—eh?"

Mrs. Ramsey blushed.

"I don't know, Cousin Algernon—but they say—it's never too late."

But Algernon Mudge did not wait for her to complete the sentence.

Pleads Guilty to Murder.

Hartford, Ky., Sept. 1.—The indictment against Jessie Fulkerson, charged with the murder of Harrison Maddox at Rockport last spring, was called in circuit court today, and after the jury had been impaneled Fulkerson agreed to plead guilty and take an indeterminate sentence of ten to fifteen years in the penitentiary. He declined, however, to go before the special grand jury now in session and make a full confession. He will be taken to Eddyville at once.

It is charged by the state that Fulkerson and several other men went to the home of Maddox near Rockport during the night, where a number of negroes had congregated, and by threats they compelled them to leave the place in company with two regulators, and while they were thus under guard one of them, Maddox, attempted to escape and was shot and killed. Fulkerson, who today entered a plea of guilty, is said to be an industrious farmer, 50 years old, and lives in the vicinity of Rockport.

Laugh Cured Him.

Robert Beck of Chicago who was made deaf and dumb by an injury sustained while fighting with the British army, suddenly recovered his speech and hearing Tuesday at a moving picture show in London. Beck, who was a motorcycle policeman of the Chicago force, became a dispatch bearer with the British troops and was struck down by a sniper's bullet in Flanders. He was taken to Liverpool. From the day of his injury he had been unable to hear or speak, until he was taken with other convalescents to the "movies." While watching a comic picture he suddenly burst out in laughter. The next moment he found that he was able to talk and hear normally.

Orozco, the Mexican bandit killed while conducting a raid into American territory, is one of the men who was arrested with Huerta and was under bond when killed. His connection with Huerta of course relieves both Villa and Carranza of responsibility for its acts, evidently designed to provoke intervention.

The Balkan States and War.

If Germany can keep the Balkan states neutral she will have won a diplomatic victory counter-balancing that won by the Allies at Rome. But defeat here will be more expensive than that in the Italian capital. For, the fall of Constantinople is an event far more important to the issue of the war than the capture of Warsaw without the Russian army. One of the most dramatic circumstances in the whole struggle is now supplied by the Balkan crises. The solution may not settle the war, but if the Allies are defeated it will materially lengthen it, and may save the Turk for many months or even years.

Rarely in human history has there been a more striking contrast than that supplied by the fortunes of Bulgaria two years ago and to day. Then, she was beaten and forsaken, a pariah among the Balkan pariahs. To-day Bulgarian decision is awaited in every capital of Europe with the intensest concern, and the rulers of all the Great Powers are bidding against each other for Bulgarian favors. Even "Czar" Ferdinand's chagrin at missing that triumphal entrance into Byzantium and the world-filling ceremony at Saint Sophia must be partially forgotten to-day, when no King is too great to do him homage.—From "Germany's Gaze Sweep Eastwards," by Frank H. Simonds, in the American Review of Reviews for September.

WOMEN WHO ARE ALWAYS TIRED

May Find Help in This Letter.

Swan Creek, Mich.—"I cannot speak too highly of your medicine. When through neglect or overwork I get run down and my appetite is poor and I have that weak, languid, always tired feeling, I get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it builds me up, gives me strength, and restores me to perfect health again. It is truly a great blessing to women, and I cannot speak too highly of it. I take pleasure in recommending it to others."—Mrs. ANNIE CAMERON, R.F.D., No. 1, Swan Creek, Michigan.

Another Sufferer Relieved.
Hebron, Me.—"Before taking your remedies I was all run down, discouraged and had female weakness. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used the Sanative Wash, and find today that I am an entirely new woman, ready and willing to do my housework now, where before taking your medicine it was a dread. I try to impress upon the minds of all ailing women I meet the benefits they can derive from your medicines."—Mrs. CHARLES ROWE, Kennebago, Maine.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

ATHENAEUM

Two Papers Read At The First Fall Meeting.

Nineteen of the 30 members of the Athenaeum attended the first fall meeting Thursday night and held an interesting meeting.

Chas. M. Meacham on "The Difficulties of Eating" and Ira L. Smith on the "The Modern Newspaper," were the essayists of the evening. Both papers were discussed at length by the members. Mr. Smith's paper was especially interesting as giving the views of a man outside the press. He exhibited a copy of the Hopkinsville Gazette, edited by Mr. Goodall in 1839, and discussed the tremendous importance of the great metropolitan dailies.

Those present were: President S. Y. Trimble, Frank Rives, H. W. Linton, Rev. C. M. Thompson, Ira L. Smith, Ira D. Smith, Chas. M. Meacham, Jas. A. McKenzie, L. E. Foster, J. W. Downer, Geo. E. Gary, Jno. C. Duffy, A. H. Eckles, Dr. Austin Bell, Dr. F. M. Stites, T. J. McReynolds, Dr. M. Brown, Pettus White, Dr. R. F. McDaniel and L. H. Davis.

Scalp Torn Off.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 2.—Miss Anna B. Heckman, 22 years old, of 936 East Oak street, was almost instantly killed at the shirt factory of the J. M. Robinson, Norton & Co., when her hair was caught in a whirling shaft. Her entire scalp was torn off and her skull was fractured at the base of the brain.

Ancient Governments Similar.

The Aztecs and the Incas had governments much like those of European nations of the same era. Anthropologists do not consider this an evidence that there existed a prehistoric link between the old and the new worlds. Men under similar environments develop similar institutions.

Hog With Six Feet.

Goodspings, Tenn., Sept. 1.—Shug Hazelwood, living near here, has a hog that is one year old, will weigh 150 pounds and has six good feet, two feet on each foreleg, dividing at the ankle joint. It walks on all of them.

World's Pigeon Record.

"Ben Bolt" a carrier pigeon, has established a new long distance flight of approximately 2,200 miles from Norwalk, Ohio, to Los Angeles, Cal., Monday. It made the trip in five days, nine hours and thirty minutes.

Port Royal, Tenn., Sept. 1.—Mrs. Bailey Richardson, of Salem, killed a rattlesnake in front of her door, using a hoe to sever its head. The reptile had seven rattles.

WOODSON TO RESIST

Action of The State Convention In Removing Him.

New York, Sept. 3.—Urey Woodson, of Owensboro, gave out the following statement on the action of the Democratic state convention in attempting to unseat him as the Kentucky member of the Democratic National committee:

"I can only deplore, with other Democrats of Kentucky, the unseemly action of the state convention at the midnight hour, in undertaking to depose, by snap action, on a viva voce vote, certain committeemen of the organization, good and loyal Democrats, whose only offense was that they voted for other candidates than some of the successful ones in the primary.

"So far as I am advised, not one of these men had failed to express hearty acquiescence in the result of the primary. So for myself, the threat to give to another, in the midst of my term, the seat I hold on the Democratic National committee (a position to which I have been five times elected in the past nineteen years) does not disturb me in the slightest. I was last elected to this position by the unanimous vote of the state central and executive committees in September, 1914, to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Mayo, deceased. This term will expire at the time of holding the next Democratic National convention, probably in July, 1916, and I will, if I live, be the Kentucky member of the National committee until that time. The fact of my election to this unexpired term was certified a year ago by the chairman and secretary of the state committee to the national committee. The national committee has for many years uniformly refused to unseat any of its members, who were duly elected, because of subsequent factional party differences in their states, notably in the cases of Guffey, of Pennsylvania, and Mountcastle, of Tennessee, in 1912.

Suspicious Characters.

At a station in northern Pennsylvania a number of young ministers, proceeding to a religious conference in Philadelphia, boarded a coach where in there was a dilapidated young woman smelling of beer. For some time the young men in black garb conversed gravely on conference affairs, while the beery young woman nodded in her corner.

The train approached a long tunnel. The young woman roused herself. She pinned back lazily a long strand of hair that had fallen on her shoulder, and fixed her gaze upon the ministers. Then she produced from her basket a huge bread knife. Making a few unsteady lunges in the air with this implement, she addressed the reverend gentlemen thus:

"Don't none of you boys try no tricks on me in the tunnel, or mark my words, I'll open ye!"—Everybody's Magazine.

Our Contagious Accent.

"Speaking with a strong American accent," a navy man has returned as a deserter for service here after seven years across the Atlantic. Seven years! Why seven weeks will do the trick. What is known as the "American accent"—and it differs as widely as the American continent—is the most infectious in the world. A couple of months, as I know personally, is sufficient to alter the pitch of voice, and no man comes back from America without being detected in his speech, which has unconsciously caught the pitch. He gets over it in time. But Britain has never succeeded in imposing its lingual pitch on America.—London Chronicle.

Martyrs to Truth.

Astronomers say that only the ignorant speak of the "universe," for the number of universes is infinite. Yet, only a few centuries ago, Campanella was kept in prison for 20 years and was tortured seven times to make him retract his assertion that the number of stars is infinite. In those days it was a crime to believe in infinity. And Galileo, burdened with age and threatened with torture, retracted what all the world believes today. And Giordano Bruno, who bravely refused to retract, was burned at the stake.

No Teachers' Trust.

The Chicago Teachers' Federation which is affiliated with labor organizations, was ordered to disband by the Chicago Board of Education. The vote on the question was close and followed a bitter fight. The organization has been a power and has successfully resisted many attacks.

MEMBERS FIRE DEPARTMENT

Sustain Small Losses by Flames Which Occurred This Week.

Two small fires occurred in the city this week. Yesterday morning about 6:40 o'clock the Fire Department was called to the residence of John B. Lawson, a member of the department, on 218 E. 19th street. The kitchen ceiling had caught from a "flue," but the flames were extinguished and the damage was small.

Late Wednesday afternoon a coal house on Jesup avenue on a lot belonging to E. P. Fears, Chief of the Fire Department, caught on fire and was partially destroyed. It is not known how the flames originated.

BOOSTERS YESTERDAY

Made a Trip to Trigg County To Talk Good Roads.

Six cars of good roads boosters, headed by President R. E. Cooper, of the Christian County Dixie Bee Line Association, left yesterday morning at 10 o'clock and drove through to Caledonia and attended the big rally and barbecue that was held at Locust Grove church in the interest of getting ready for the inspection committee.

The outcome of yesterday's meeting will be of vast importance to Hopkinsville, for if the committee in this locality fail to come up with their part of the work the committee will not select the route which passes through here.

C. R. Clark, R. E. Cooper, Judge Walter Knight and others made forceful speeches to the meeting and enthusiastic feeling was aroused over the opportunity of getting the Dixie Bee Line for this section.

The Trigg county people declared that they were in hearty accord with everything that was being done and pledged their support to any movement in the interest of good roads. They promised to do their part in the working of the roads on Wednesday.

NEGRO GIRL

Sent To Reform School on Serious Charge.

Sallie Poore, a colored girl 15 years old, was ordered sent to the Reform School, in County court, Thursday, on a charge of grand larceny and attempt to poison. She was employed in the family of Mr. J. T. Garnett and some clothing missed was found in her possession and she was given time to find other missing articles. Later the cook found some broken glass in some buttermilk to be used by the family. No one drank the milk, but the girl was taken into custody on suspicion.

CROFTON ALIVE

Rousing Good Roads Meeting Held There Wednesday.

The people of North Christian held an enthusiastic meeting at Crofton on last Wednesday night. The meeting was called in accordance with the Gary resolution, which was passed on Monday at the Christian County Association held here.

Chairman L. D. Burkholder, of the Crofton division, presided over the meeting which was well attended, over two hundred enthusiasts being present. A committee composed of Judge Walter Knight, Road Engineer J. H. Dillman, C. R. Clark and B. D. Hill, was sent over from Hopkinsville to represent the local association.

The meeting resulted in the citizens of Crofton promising to lend their aid toward making the Dixie Bee Line Highway a success, and many men offered the use of teams, wagons and instruments, and others subscribed money to be used in the work.

The stores at Crofton will all be closed on the 8th and the day will be observed as a Good Roads holiday.

BABY BY PARCEL POST

Youngster Travels 30 Miles Under Care of Uncle Sam and Arrives in Safety.

Jackson, Ky., Sept. 1.—For the first time probably in the history of the parcel post a baby has been sent through the mails.

Tuesday the three-year-old child of Mrs. Celina Smith, little Maude Smith, was sent from her home in Morgan county to Jackson, over the O. & K. line, as a parcel post package.

The baby's mother has been visiting here and was taken ill. She wanted to see her child, and accordingly members of the family at Caney, Morgan county, dressed her up in her best bib and tucker, pasted the necessary stamps on a streamer sewed to her little pink frock and took her to the postoffice. There she was given in care of the United postal authorities, who promptly started her to Jackson, where she arrived safely today.

From the postoffice here she was placed in a wagon used by the parcel post and conveyed, eating candy, which however was not included in the government regulations, to the home of Mr. James Haddix, where her mother received her with open arms.

The distance from Caney to Jackson is about thirty miles and the youngster seemed to enjoy her trip thoroughly.

Newspaper Men Drown.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 1.—Paris C. Jameson, Arthur G. Hunter and Paul W. Weston, all members of the editorial staff of the Grand Rapids Press; and J. Harvey Smith, an office employee of the Grand Rapids Railway company, were drowned at Reeds Lake Tuesday by capsizing of a high speed motorboat.

CARRY VOICE TO PHONOGRAPH

Possible Method by Which Talking Moving Pictures May Be Made in the Future.

To produce talking moving pictures it is necessary only to record the voices of the actors on a phonograph while the scene is being recorded on the film, an exchange says. The requirement seems simple, but the problem is to record the talk without showing the apparatus in the pictures.

Several phonographs placed in different positions on the stage, each one to record the voices in its neighborhood, will give separate records that must be collected on a single record by transferring, in order to control the talking by the picture machine when the pictures are shown. It is a difficult matter to time the talking with the pictures with this method.

Orlando E. Kellum of Los Angeles has invented an apparatus which enables each actor to telephone to the phonograph from any part of the stage. The telephone transmitter is carried invisibly on the chest of the actor. Two wires pass from the transmitter down an arm to his hands. Placing his hand on a table corner or holding the back of a chair connects him to the phonograph under the stage.

An ordinary telephone receiver over the vibrating disk repeats the voice to the phonograph, which records it. The two wires from the telephone receiver pass under the stage, and branches from them are run up the legs of chairs, tables, etc., to supply contact terminals for the actors to touch. Contact plates are also provided on the stage floor in the open spaces for the actor to engage with foot terminals.

The battery is placed in the under-stage circuit, so that all the actor carries is a light flat telephone transmitter and the lightweight wires. This system delivers all of the voices to one record and keeps time with the action shown on the film.

KEEPING BABY WELL

ESPECIAL ATTENTION NECESSARY DURING HOT WEATHER.

Many Ills May Be Avoided by Watchfulness on the Part of the Mother—Government Expert Gives Advice Worth Heeding.

(Prepared by the Children's Bureau, U. S. Department of Labor.)

"Summer complaint," or diarrhea, is one of the most dreaded ills which may befall the baby.

It is the principal symptom of various forms of indigestion, some of them mild and some very serious. But any undue looseness of the baby's bowels should put the mother on guard against illness.

At the appearance of diarrhea, the city mother should take her baby to a good doctor. If she has no doctor, she should go to the nearest infant welfare station, where a competent physician will advise her as to the care of the baby, and the nurses in attendance will help her carry out his directions.

In the country, where it is very difficult to get the advice of a doctor, the mother has a harder problem. Because she is out of the range of infant welfare stations, hospitals, and, often, of physicians as well, it is most important to prevent every attack of illness possible, by careful attention to the baby's food and general care.

A pamphlet which may be of help to the country mother is "Infant Care," sent free to anyone mailing a request to the chief of the children's bureau, U. S. Department of Labor, Washington, D. C. This pamphlet contains simple directions for the care and feeding of the baby, and suggests some ways of dealing with various emergencies.

The healthy baby usually has one or two bowel movements a day. If this number is increased to four or more it is time to take measures against sickness.

It is well to remember, however, that the bowel movements of a baby fed entirely at the breast are normally more frequent than those of a bottle-fed baby, and that a slight increase in the number of movements is not so serious a matter to a baby at the breast as to one artificially fed.

A baby fed at the breast does not usually have diarrhea, and when such a baby shows signs of digestive disturbance, it is usually because he is overfed, either he is nursed too often, or at irregular intervals, or is allowed to nurse too long at one time. When he does have diarrhea, the time between nursings should be increased to four hours, and the time at the breast reduced to five or ten minutes.

If the bowels continue loose, the breast should be withdrawn entirely for several feedings, if necessary, giving the baby instead cool drinking water at frequent intervals. In this case, the mother should pump her breasts at the regular nursing times, both to keep them from drying up, and to prevent their caking.

Bottle-fed babies are the most frequent sufferers from summer diarrhea, and this fact furnishes another strong argument in favor of breast feeding. Diarrhea in a bottle-fed baby is also best treated by reducing the amount of food. The bottle should be omitted for 8, 12 or 24 hours, according to the severity of the attack, and in place of the milk should be given as much boiled and cooled water as the baby will take.

Food should not be withheld for more than 24 hours, without the advice of a doctor. When the bottle is resumed, the food should be much weaker than before; water should be substituted for at least half the milk previously given. The milk should be skimmed, and the sugar omitted.

The return to the former feeding should be made gradually by adding a little more milk each day and beginning to add sugar. The more severe the attack has been, the more slowly should changes be made.

If the baby is on "mixed" feeding, that is, partly breast and partly bottle fed, the bottle feedings should be omitted if diarrhea appears, and the breast given once in four or five hours, with nothing but drinking water between meals.

Diarrhea is much more frequent in July and August than in the cooler months of the year, which fact has earned for it the name of "summer complaint." Accordingly the mother should use every means in her power during the hot weather to keep the baby cool. In the heat of the day the baby should wear only a diaper, with possibly one other thin garment.

Frequent cool spongings and at least one full tub bath each day, plenty of sleep, and a constant supply of fresh air will help to protect the baby from the excessive heat, and keep him well.

Raspberry Puffs.

Cook one cupful of boiling water, four tablespoonfuls of butter, tablespoonful of sugar and one-half salt-spoonful of salt until the butter melts; add one and one-half cupfuls of pastry flour, stir until the mixture leaves the sides of the pan, remove from the fire, cool and add three large unbeaten eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly between each addition. Press through a pastry bag on buttered and floured tins, bake about half an hour, cool, cut a slit in each and fill with raspberry jam.

A Recipe for Apple Jelly. Delicious apple jelly can be made from the parings of apples alone. It will be a beautiful red, no matter what the color of the parings.

Arranging Flowers.

Iris is most effective in a tall glass vase. Almost all flowers have great beauty in their stems, hence glass vases give them the greatest beauty when they are cut, by showing the stems. Iris should be arranged only with its own foliage. Wild flowers should always be loosely arranged, and they should be placed by themselves—not in close proximity to the highly cultivated garden sort.

The "Fourth Arm."

Without the aeroplane in its numerous forms, the war would have been waged on utterly different lines at almost every point. Either the trench warfare would have been indefinitely prolonged, or there would have been an ever-recurring number of surprise attacks, with alternate successes and defeats, and a ceaseless shifting of the balance of advantage; and when so many millions of troops were engaged, over fronts of unprecedented lengths, heaven alone knows how the commanders in chief would have controlled their forces or directed their tactics. In any future war no country will take the field without regarding its "fourth arm" as its most precious and indispensable factor.—Charles S. Freeston in Scribner's Magazine.

Do You Blame Him?

A Colorado man, recently sentenced to prison for stealing $300 from a mining company at Cripple Creek, Colo., is said to be the same who first filed on properties there which have since yielded $30,000,000 to those who obtained ultimate possession.

STUDIO OF MUSIC!

McBurney, announce that they will open a Studio of Music, with departmental work, on Wednesday, Sept. 1st, in the Cooper-Davis Bldg., South Main St., Room No. 1.

A joint recital will be given by these young ladies at an early date, to be announced later.

CONTROL HOG CHOLERA

Some Facts Given in Waging War on the Dread Disease.

It Must Be Remembered That Serum Is Preventive, Not a Cure—Two Different Methods of Applying Are Described.

(By DR. K. W. STONDER, Iowa State College.)

Hog cholera serum is the only thing known which will prevent or control hog cholera.

Hog cholera serum is nothing more or less than the blood of hogs which have been immunized against hog cholera.

There are two methods of applying the serum, the single treatment and the serum-simultaneous. The first consists merely of injecting a quantity of serum proportionate to the weight of the hog. This gives an immunity lasting from three to six weeks. This method never hurts any hog, even if given in heavy overdoses.

The serum-simultaneous is the same as the single treatment with the addition of a small quantity of virus or blood containing the germs capable of producing cholera. This gives the hogs immunity for life, except pigs vaccinated before eight weeks old.

Some losses have been reported from the serum-simultaneous treatment. They are the faults of methods or materials rather than the treatment. Poor serum of low potency and untested is the chief factor in the failure of this treatment. Too low doses, or improper application of the serum are all causes of failure.

Records kept on 20,000 hogs show a loss of less than two per cent when treated by the simultaneous method. All were made immune, some for three years.

Here are the facts in waging war on hog cholera by the simultaneous treatment:

Hogs can be made immune. If healthy when treated, and if reliable, tested serum is employed together with good virus, there is no doubt that the serum simultaneous treatment is a success.

Hog cholera serum in any process will give good results on healthy hogs, and better than nothing on sick ones. It must be remembered that hog cholera serum is a preventive, not a cure.

When serum is to be used, first get all the pigs together in a pen so they may be caught easily. Too much exercise before injection is not good for the animal.

Injection may be on inner side of a rear leg or in armpit; either spot must be cleaned carefully, using first warm water and soap and following with alcohol or a three to five per cent solution of carbolic acid.

All vessels and instruments must be sterilized before use and the operator's hands should be cleaned, disinfected and kept so.

STANCHIONS FOR THE CALVES

Youngster Will Not Worry About Neighbor Getting Part of His Mess and Will Drink Slowly.

Harmful results are frequently brought on in young calves by their drinking milk too rapidly and too much at a time.

Feeding small quantities and often, which is the natural plan, is the way to avoid trouble from this source.

Where several calves run together stanchions for feeding may contribute to less rapid drinking, for with stanchions the calf is not worrying about one of its neighbors getting part of his mess and is thus encouraged to drink more slowly.

Distemper in Horses.

Strangles, or as it is commonly known, distemper, is a contagious and infectious disease seen most frequently in young animals. One attack generally produces an immunity which lasts for life, therefore is seldom seen in older animals.

WAR! What Is It All About?

HAS the whole world gone stark mad over a very foolish and trivial question? Are swords rattling, cannon rumbling, mailed armor clashing just because Russia wanted to show her love for the little brother—Serbia?

Tear aside the curtain of Europe's politics and see the grim and sinister game of chess that is being played. See upon what a slim, yet desperate, excuse the sacred lives of millions may be sacrificed. Read the history of the past one hundred years, as written by one of the greatest authorities the world has ever known, and learn the naked, shameful truth. Just to get you started as a Review of Reviews subscriber, we make you this extraordinary offer. We will give to you

Duruy's History of the World

Four splendid cloth volumes, full of portraits, sketches, maps, diagrams

Today is the climax of a hundred years of preparation. Read in this timely, authoritative, complete, AND THE ONLY CONDENSED classic world history—of which over 2,000,000 copies have been sold in France alone—just what has taken place in the inner councils of Europe during the past one hundred years. Read in these entrancing pages how Russia has for years craftily been trying to escape from her darkness—to get a year-round open port, with its economic freedom. Read how Germany and Austria, fearful of the monster's latent strength, have been trying to checkmate her and how they have pinned all in this last, supreme stake.

The Lesson of the Past

THIS master of the pen shows you the glory that was Greece's and the grandeur that was Rome's. He guides you through the Middle Ages, the picturesque old days of feudalism and the crusades; through the Renaissance up to contemporary history, which Prof. Guizot completes in brilliant manner. In the story of the past lie the secrets of today. And you will understand them better when you get the Review of Reviews for a year—for the Review of Reviews will give you a sane interpretation of the events that are taking place with such rapidity. It is not enough to read the daily news reports. Your ability to comprehend conditions, and to discuss them rationally depends on a true interpretation of the meaning and the "reason why" of events. In your mind you must bring order out of chaos—and the Review of Reviews will do it for you.

Woman Past Help.

Chandler, Okla.—In a letter from this place, Mrs. Ella Flowers says: "I hardly know how to thank you for the good that Cardui has done me. Before I tried Cardui, I thought I was past help, but after taking it I was relieved at once, and gained at least 10 pounds. Everybody says I look so much better. I am still improving greatly." Many women are completely worn out and discouraged, on account of womanly weakness. Are you? Have you not tried Cardui? It only needs a few doses to convince you that Cardui is just what you need. Try it today. It will cure your pains.—Advertisement.

FLOURISH ONLY IN WOODS

Wild Flowers That Refuse to Be Contented in Gardens That Are the Handiwork of Man.

Among the truly "wild" flowers, two that ask of man only to be let alone in their native fastnesses are the mayflower, or trailing arbutus, and the twinberry, or partridge berry, the last named a member of the madder family, and a distant relative of the coffee tree. The mayflower is wildest and shyest of all. No more is the eagle at home in the farmyard or the cardinal in the cage than the mayflower in the garden. As the imprisoned cardinal pines away and dies when the glitter bars of a birdcage separate it from its liberty, so the mayflower sickens and withers away in the garden.

The moth mullein for many a year has been a rural mothball. It is a member of the figwort family. Among its relatives are the great mullein, the blue toad-flax, the small snapdragon, the turtle-head, the beard-tongue, the monkey-flower, the lousewort and the cow-wheat. The country-dwelling housewife uses its leaves in packing away garments of winter to keep out the tiny cloth moths of summer. It is also believed to be a bane to cockroaches.

The showy lady's slipper, a shy member of the orchid family, flowering from June to September, never seeks the haunts of man, but tries to remove itself as far from their comings and goings as it can, and it succeeds so well that only the flower lover who is willing to take pains can approach its dwelling place. Moreover, it is so persistent in its efforts to be let alone that it has come to have tiny glandular hairs which contain an oil that is somewhat poisonous to the human skin, and it is said that a number of cases of dermatitis have followed the efforts of flower lovers to carry it in triumph out of the woods.

LEAVE NOTHING FOR ENEMY

Soldiers Are Schooled to Become Expert in the Matter of Destroying Weapons of War.

Military men are taught how to destroy surplus stores which may be useful to the enemy and which are in danger of capture.

It may be necessary to destroy guns to prevent them falling into the hands of the enemy, or to make captured guns useless. If a small amount of dynamite or other explosive is available of course this can be done very effectively.

If not, the breech of the gun is closed and the hinge-joints smashed as much as possible with a handspike or pick. If there is time a few rifle shots fired at the vital points of the gun effectively jam the mechanism so as to make it useless.

With rifles, the butts are broken off and the barrels destroyed as much as possible. To do this the rifles are well heated over a fire and smashed up with heavy hammers. The army hand books lay down that a party of five soldiers should be able to destroy 50 rifles an hour.

Ammunition is destroyed by placing it in a deep pit and setting it on fire.

Telegraph wires are cut up into small pieces and the poles cut down and broken up.

Winning Philosophy.

While Francis Ouimet's golf wasn't quite so good, or nearly so good as it generally is, in the recent open championship his rare philosophy was still better than par.

"I played badly," he said, "but I could have played worse. But that part of it didn't matter. I had a corking good time, which is what I play golf for. I don't ever want to win another championship if winning one is going to spoil my week. For sometimes you can win, and sometimes you can't, but in the end you generally get what is coming."

"When you are at the top of your game," added Ouimet, "the game plays itself. And when you are not at the top of your game you are not going to win, and it is worse than foolish to fret or bother about it, since there is nothing to be done except to take what you get."

Hobo Among Flowers.

The great bindweed, a first-cousin to the morning glory, is a hobo among flowers. It traveled up and down the lanes of world trade for centuries, until it has come to claim most of the northern hemisphere for its abiding place. It loves wayside hedges and thickets, where it climbs over everything in its fight for the survival of the fittest; but it knows no joy greater than getting into a cornfield, where it can use the stalks as a nature-built trellis for its wanderings. It flowers from June until September. It keeps solid hours, getting up with the rising sun and going to bed when the sun goes down, except on moonlight nights, when it keeps open house for the benefit of certain moths that are its especial friends.

Danger in Wrist Watches.

Many soldiers in the European war wear watches on their left wrists which are frequently hit by the enemy's bullets. When a high-power projectile strikes a watch fairly it shatters it into countless fragments which, when embedded in the bone, as they usually are, make it impossible to restore the industrial use of the arm. It is expected that the abandonment

SPOOKS IN A WAR HOSPITAL

Indians and Priests, as Result of Unexpected Meeting, Thought Each Other "Haunts."

British Headquarters—An amusing little incident was told me by the officer commanding a clearing hospital which is now being used as a convalescent hospital, writes a correspondent of the London Times. His hospital is housed in a Cistercian monastery.

Among the wounded were a considerable body of Pathans, who, after the manner of their kind, had no sooner had their wounds attended to than they began to wander about the building and explore what kind of place it was to which they had been brought. They chose for this amusement the hour—between two o'clock and three o'clock in the morning—when the monks were at complins. Some of them even went so far as to get into the monks' beds and settle down there.

In due course the monks returned and there was a scene of frantic excitement. The Pathans, seeing these white figures walking along the corridors and coming into the rooms, thought that the building was haunted by ghosts, while the monks suddenly confronted by a crowd of black human shapes, became obsessed with the idea that their monastery had been invaded by a host of black phantoms. Each side began to shout with the fury of fear at the other. Luckily, they made such a noise that the attention of my informant was attracted and he succeeded in putting matters right.

MANY KINDS OF ARTICHOKE

Plant Really Is a Variety of Thistle, but Man Has Greatly Improved Its Edible Qualities.

The artichoke, which originally came from Barbary, is not a botanical species, but a variety of the thistle, which grows spontaneously all along the African coast of the Mediterranean from Morocco to Palestine. It is now cultivated extensively in France, where those which come from Brittany and Algeria are the species most highly esteemed. Even of these there are many varieties, such as the Camus artichoke of Brittany, the bronzed artichoke of Roscoff, the big green artichoke of Laon, and the violet artichoke of Provence. There are also varieties which come from Italy, Spain, India and Canada, to say nothing of the Jerusalem artichoke, famous for the enormous size of its leaves. In the south of France, when the crop is abundant, the heads are carefully picked of all their leaves, and the "hearts" dried in the sun, put up in sacks, and stored away for winter use. These hearts, when boiled in water, or in a rich beef broth, become soft and recover their form, color and flavor. They are then taken from the pot, the water and broth strained away, the center is filled with forced meat, and they are eaten either fried or baked.

One Way to Eradicate the Prune.

A meeting of the Boarders' Protective association was held the other night, the Olathe Register reports, and the matter of prunes was discussed, and the best ways and means of eradicating these nuisances from the boarder house menu were considered. Ezra Standridge, who is one of the town's most successful boarders, stated that prunes had been a staple three times a day at the hash emporium which he patronized until about six months ago. Mr. Standridge said that he cured the landlady of the deadly prune habit by the use of mice. Mr. Standridge recommended that the remains of a shredded mouse be placed in the prune dish of the landlady, and advised it as a sure cure. The association will discuss methods of determining whether pressed chicken is young hen or old rooster at the next meeting. The meeting closed with the singing of the boarders' ode, "Short Sheets Make the Bed Seem Longer."—Kansas City Star.

There Was a Difference.

In the lobby of a hotel they were speaking about speed fiends, and Congressman Wyatt Aiken of South Carolina recalled a story about Jones.

One afternoon Jones was rambling along the boulevard when he ran across friend Smith. Handshake and then some talk, which included the war, the weather and automobiles.

"By the way," said friend Smith recollectively. "I hear that you have been buying a machine."

"Yes," proudly admitted Jones. "I brought her home about two weeks ago."

"Some speed, of course," returned friend Smith. "How fast can the machine go?"

"Well," answered Jones with a smile that was half sad, "it depends altogether on who is timing it, my self or a country constable."

Gesture Sets Him Ablaze.

Lawyer Tomasso O. Conti was defending Paolo Miraglia, on trial in the Brooklyn (N. Y.) county court for sending men out to solicit money for a fake mission. He was in his best form. He called heaven to witness the supreme innocence of his much abused client. He beat his breast. "Counselor, you're a fire!" cried Judge Hyman.

"But no!" cried the signor, in great surprise. "But yes!" shouted two husky court attendants, grabbing off the signor's coat and beating out the flames in a

Locals Badly Worst In Lafayette Ball Game.

Co. D received a hard trouncing Wednesday at Lafayette when they went down in defeat by 10 to 6 score. The lads from Lafayette were in a heavy swatting humor and aided by errors in critical places walked away with the victory in the first few innings. Compton, Lafayette's star slab artist, did the box work and held the soldier boys under control until the last innu when they started a rally which netted four runs.

WILL LIVE AMONG NEGROES.

Woman Hopes For Democracy of Racial Brotherhood.

San Francisco, Sept. 1.—Miss Florence Macfarlane, a delegate from London, England, is going to live among negroes, she announced today in an address before the New Thought congress, to test the practicability of universal brotherhood. "If I can live happily among the blacks," she said, "if I can love them as I love the people of my own race, then I will know that our dream of brotherhood, for all races, may come true."

Elsie Hanneman.

With health, beauty, education and almost everything else heart could desire at her command, Miss Elsie Hanneman, a blue-eyed Brooklyn girl, has chosen to be a water sprite. Since her father, a well-known New York corporation lawyer, first taught his little four-year-old daughter to swim, she has been at home in the water. Her love of it has won her the woman's championship in fancy diving.

With a form surpassing that of Annette Kellerman, her diving feats are well known at Bath Beach, near Brooklyn, where she has a summer home with trees and flower gardens around it, and a big, private swimming tank, where the little mermaid disports herself exclusively, far from the gaze of the multitude. Miss Hanneman drives a big automobile and knows all of her imported trees and queer flowers by their first names.

Flattering offers from artists, and modistes, inviting her to pose as the girl with the most perfect waistline in the world have had no lure for this wealthy little water girl. Miss Hanneman's health and figure are products of her out-door life.

"Why pose in old stuffy studios," she asks, "when there are so much better things to do in the fine, big out-of-doors?"

DETECTIVE CONFESSES.

He Killed His Wife—It Was My Life or Hers," He Declares.

New York, Sept. 1.—"It was my life or hers."

This was the explanation given by Samuel Leitner, a private detective, of the slaying of his wife, Sarah, after he had admitted the killing to Coroner Feinberg.

Anna and Dora Lubetsky, sisters of the slain woman, who were in the room, broke down when they heard Leitner confess that he had killed his wife.

A long series of quarrels between the couple, which led to the shooting, was due, according to Leitner, to his wife's friendship for other men.

When in his office night before last his wife attacked him with a hatpin, Leitner said, and as she snatched at a revolver on his desk his hand clutched it first and he fired.

Man Named as Co-respondent Denies Seeing Evelyn Nesbit in Three Years.

Pittsburg, Sept. 2.—Harry K. Thaw, through his attorneys, Stone & Stone, filed a petition asking a divorce from his wife, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, charging misconduct with John Francis, of New York.

The petition is very brief, covering less than one typewritten page. Thaw alleges that his wife was guilty of misconduct with Francis at 31 West Thirty-first street, New York, in December, 1909, and January, 1910, and various other places and times.

Thaw also declares she deserted him in July, 1909. The petition contains nothing to throw light on the identity of Francis.

New York, Sept. 2.—John Francis expressed surprise when informed that he had been named as co-respondent in Harry Thaw's suit for divorce. "I have not seen Evelyn Thaw in three years," he said.

At the time of the shooting of Stanford White, Francis was a reporter on a New York newspaper.

HIS FIRST PAIR OF GLASSES

Man Thought He Was "Seeing Things," and Unjustly Blamed His New Aids to Vision.

It happened in Boston. He had gone there to get fitted to some eyeglasses. It was the first time he used them and when the oculist handed them to him he remarked that he guessed he would put them on and wear them.

"Better not," remarked the oculist. "Wait until you are home and can get a little accustomed to wearing them."

But the man put them on just the same, paid the bill, left the office and started down the street. Everything went fine. He could see everything in sight with clearness and distinction. He turned into Winter street and threaded his way through the throng.

Suddenly something seemed to go wrong. Standing out from the rest of the crowd appeared an enormous man. He towered high above everyone else on the street. The man again focused his gaze, thinking it was a trick of fancy. But there loomed the big man, feet above him. With a startled exclamation he jumped to the conclusion that his glasses were the trouble. He snatched them from his nose and with his naked eyes looked again.

There he saw the giant man still approaching—on high stilts and bearing placards of invitation from his employer. It was no fantasy of the glasses, after all. But he did not put them on again until after he reached home.

"I had all I wanted of 'seeing things,'" he remarked.

ITALY UNDER MANY RULERS

Fertile Land, During the Centuries, Has Been Prize Worth the Expenditure of Blood.

Charlemagne tacked Italy to his unwieldy empire and left it to his weakling son, Lothaire, by the treaty of Verdun in 843. The peninsula enjoyed a measure of peace for some years, then petty counts and dukes began a series of internecine wars which continued until Otto the Great marched into Rome in 962 and forced the pope to place the imperial crown of gold on his head. That was the beginning of the Germanic holy Roman empire. It established a precedent for the German emperors, and they continued bringing their armies across the Alps to feast on Italy's plenty until Conradin, the last of the Hohenstaufens, was defeated in 1268. The Hapsburgs then took up the pursuit of Italy.

The feudal system never gained a firm hold in Italy, which lightened the labor of Germanic commerce. In 1056 the pope and the free commercial cities made a common defense against the emperor. They had more or less success until Frederick Barbarossa swept down on the land and buried all opposition. The Lombardy league collapsed in 1167, and Italy became as much a German province as Alsace is today. No German emperor in those days rested content until the pope had placed the imperial crown on his head—first the silver crown at Aix la Chapelle, then the iron crown of Lombardy, and then the one at Rome.

LIVE FISH FOUND IN A HEN'S EGG

Discovery by Jackson Woman Causes Much Surprise and Considerable Talk.

Jackson, Tenn., Sept. 1.—When Mrs. J. W. Walden, wife of General Manager Walden, of the Southern laundry, broke open a large hen egg at her home on the corner of College and Hurst streets yesterday, she found swimming around in the white of the egg a live minnow. The fish lived only a short time after it was brought to the open air.

The discovery created great surprise here, and when it was displayed no one remembered having heard of a similar phenomenon.

Mrs. Walden had noticed that the egg was unusually large and heavy before she broke it open. How the fish got inside is a problem that is being widely discussed.

Lumber Rates Increased.

The interstate commerce commission has modified its original report on the rates on lumber from southern points to Ohio river crossings and other points for the purpose of aligning the rates of the Louisville & Nashville to St. Louis from stations on its line south of Decatur, Ala., with the rates of the other lines serving the same general territory. Rates from Helena, Ala., to Cairo and St. Louis were permitted to be increased to the Memphis basis. The Louisville & Nashville is allowed to increase by not more than one cent per hundred pounds its rates to St. Louis from stations on its lines.

Cooking is so important!

Good cooking helps the health and happiness of your family.

Surely you should have a range that will enable you to do your best cooking.

"Majestic" makes good cooking easy. It is not just "so much metal put together to hold fire"; each part is scientifically built to do its work just right. Made of malleable and charcoal iron, metals that resist rust and wear three times as long as ordinary range metals. All joints cold-riveted (no putty used)—a Majestic stays tight—holds the heat in, maintaining uniform baking heat with least fuel. The Majestic provides perfect baking quality, plus fuel-saving and work-saving features that you cannot get in ordinary ranges. The little extra it costs is more than repaid by the years longer wear that it gives.

The health and happiness of your whole family is effected by the range you buy. Investigate thoroughly. Before you buy any range, come to our store and see the Majestic—we know you will want a Majestic when you see its advantages.

More and hotter water!

Majestic water heating front is fitted with eight hollow pins that extend right into the fire giving greatest water-heating surface of any range made; heats more water much quicker and hotter than ordinary water front.
